Connect with EatFresh.org!
The creators of www.eatfresh.org would love to talk with partners who are actively working with youth. Eatfresh.org was built with a broad audience in mind, but they are currently exploring ways to make this a useful online nutrition resource for youth. Please email monica@leahspantrysf.org if you are interested in sharing your 2 cents. You will be invited to schedule a one-on-one conversation at your convenience. If you wish, you can also learn more about Leah’s Pantry’s free trainings and tools for engaging clients in healthy eating. Participating partners will receive a thank you gift including cookbooks, EatFresh.org materials and other Leah’s Pantry goodies.

4/4/18 Registration Opens for Rethink Your Drink Day
Rethink Your Drink (RYD) Day (May 16th) is a collaborative effort across the state of SNAP-Ed agencies and community based organizations. This opportunity, on May 16th, is for SNAP-Ed agencies to draw in non-traditional partners (CBO) and generate greater awareness in the community about the health effects of sugary drinks and the benefits of replacing these drinks with water. Register for RYD Day on (or after) April 4 at RethinkYourDrinkDay.com. Check out the “Education & Resources” section of the Weekly Update for additional information about Rethink Your Drink Day and Event-in-a-Box!

4/9-4/11/18 UC ANR Statewide Conference, Ontario, CA
We are excited to see many of you at the upcoming UC ANR Statewide Conference in Ontario, CA! Please visit the conference website for additional details and information.

Canceled: 4/17/18 UC CalFresh Town Hall Webinar
Please note that the Town Hall Meeting originally scheduled for April 17, 2018 has been canceled. This update has been noted on the FFY 2018 Town Hall Webinars Schedule and the UC CalFresh Trainings and Meetings Calendar. The next Town Hall webinar will be on May 15, 2018.
UC CalFresh Success Stories
Success stories from your FFY 2018 UC CalFresh participants can be shared through the online data entry portal: https://ucanr.edu/survey/survey.cfm?surveynumber=22089.

"This class makes me more aware of healthy eating and enforces me to keep maintaining better food selections. Thank you for devoting the time in educating and implementing your knowledge to all of us." —Plan, Shop, Save, and Cook Participant, Santa Clara County

"It is so helpful for my children to see other adults and peer families showing concern and effort toward fitness and nutrition. She is always more willing to participate at home after having events such as these at school. Thank you!" —Eat & Play Together Participant, Shasta County

Please visit: http://www.uccalfresh.org/trainings/town-halls to access these resources.

• Nutrition Update Webinar Recording and PowerPoint Slides Now Available
The recording and PowerPoint slides from the March 6, 2018 Nutrition Update webinar presented by Sheri Zidenberg-Cherr, PhD, and Rachel E Scherr, PhD, have been uploaded and are now available on the UC CalFresh website. Please visit: http://www.uccalfresh.org/trainings/trainings to access the webinar recording and slides.

• UC CalFresh Program Directives
UC CalFresh Program Directive 2018-05: Display of And Justice for All Poster
The State Office has issued UC CalFresh Program Directive 2018-05 to provide guidance on the display of the “And Justice for All” Poster as part of complying with SNAP-Ed civil rights and public notification requirements. Per USDA SNAP-Ed Guidance, the “And Justice for All” (the blue version AD-475-B) poster is to be posted where it can be viewed by customers whenever and wherever SNAP-Ed services/education/interventions are provided. For additional information, or to download a copy of the Program Directive, please visit: http://www.uccalfresh.org/administrative/program-administration/uc-calfresh-program-administration/policies-and-procedures.

• UC CalFresh Youth Engagement Initiative Resources
Moving from Serving Youth to Engaging Youth—A Report on UC CalFresh Youth Engagement
This report examines 3 case studies from UC CalFresh SNAP-Ed nutrition education county programs who facilitated a youth-led participatory action research (YPAR) project as part of UC CalFresh’s Youth Engagement Initiative during federal fiscal year 2017. We thank the UC CalFresh programs in El Dorado, Imperial, and San Mateo Counties for highlighting their initial YPAR efforts. The report is designed to highlight the YPAR process and inspire other SNAP-Ed programs to adopt similar approaches for authentically engaging young people in policy, systems, and environmental (PSE) change strategies focused on nutrition, wellness, food access and physical activity. Launched in federal fiscal year 2016, the UC CalFresh Youth Engagement Initiative is exploring innovative strategies to shift from a focus on serving youth to engaging youth in nutrition and physical activity. Projects within this initiative seek to empower young people from vulnerable communities to lead efforts to improve the environments where they live, play, eat, shop, and learn. Key partners for this effort include the UC Davis Center for Regional Change, Public Health Institute Center for Wellness and Nutrition, and the UC Division of Agriculture and Natural Resources. For additional resources, and to view the report, please visit: http://www.uccalfresh.org/resources/youth-engagement.

Over the past decade, obesity rates have continued to rise among U.S. adults, researchers said. Since 2007-2008, the prevalence of obesity significantly rose overall among adults, from 33.7% (95% CI 31.5%-36.1%) to 39.6% (95% CI 36.1%-43.1%) in 2015-2016 ($P<0.001$), reported Craig Hales, MD, of the National Center for Health Statistics of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Hyattsville, MD, and colleagues. Drawing upon data from the National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey, the study, published as a research letter in the Journal of the American Medical Association, found that the prevalence of obesity—defined as a body mass index (BMI) $>30$—between these years significantly rose across all age ranges and sexes ($P<0.05$ for all). Alarmingly, severe obesity among U.S. adults—defined as a BMI $>40$—also significantly increased overall in adults from around 5.7% (95% CI 4.9%-6.7%) to 7.7% (95% CI 6.6%-8.9%) between 2007-2008 to 2015-2016 ($P<0.001$). All sexes and age groups individually had these increases, as well, except for those age 60 and older ($P<0.05$ for all). Rising obesity trends among U.S. youth were not quite as steep as compared with adults, although no groups had any major increases in obesity or severe obesity prevalence within this time period. For youth, obesity was defined as a BMI $\geq$95th percentile, while severe obesity was considered a BMI $\geq$120% of the 95th percentile. [Read full article.]

NCCOR’s 2017 Annual Report: Moving Forward on Physical Activity

NCCOR’s 2017 Annual Report showcases the Collaborative’s focus on physical activity throughout the year. NCCOR continues to advance physical activity research and practice by launching new tools and products, connecting and sharing information with the field, and looking ahead for emerging opportunities. As a central resource for researchers, NCCOR develops and updates data collections, user guides, and other tools. In 2017, NCCOR released several new tools with a special emphasis on physical activity:

- Individual Physical Activity Measures Registry User Guide
- Physical Activity Environment Measures Registry User Guide
- Youth Compendium of Physical Activities
- Health, Behavioral Design, and the Built Environment white paper

Reports Show Parents, Children Can Inspire Each Other to Exercise

The Sports & Fitness Industry Association’s annual Topline Participation Report was released March 26, and the good or bad news is that the percentage of Americans six and over who are physically inactive is about 27.6 percent, which plus or minus a few percentage points is where that number has been every year since 2012. You’re more likely to be active if you’re young (only 17.6 percent of those 18 and younger are inactive, compared with 33.3 percent of people older than 55). You’re also more likely to be active if you’re wealthy (an 18 percent inactivity rate for those in families making more than $100,000 per year) than if you’re poor (42.2 percent of those making $25,000 or less report being inactive.) But the most interesting thing about this report, if you’re a parent who wants your child to be active, is that what might inspire you to get off the couch is the same for your kid—having an exercise buddy. This is where you as parent can work out two birds with one stone. If you want a buddy to help you along, and your child would be inspired by the same, why not find a way to work out together? Playing catch counts. So does taking a walk. It could be anything. Time can be at a premium—and 19 percent of those inactive said fewer family commitments would help them become more active exercisers. But the beauty of participating in activities together is that you set a good example for your child, everybody gets a little workout, and you actually get some uninterrupted family time. Education & Resources

Training Opportunities for SNAP-Ed Local Implementing Agencies

On behalf of the California Department of Social Services, the California Department of Public Health Nutrition Education and Obesity Prevention Branch, UC CalFresh, California Department of Aging, and Catholic Charities of California, we are pleased to announce upcoming SNAP-Ed trainings available to appropriate staff from SNAP-Ed state and local implementing agencies in California. Please visit the Training and Events Calendar for additional information and opportunities.

Healthy Choices in Motion Online Training Module Now Available!

Learn how you can use the physical activity curriculum Healthy Choices in Motion with students in 4th through 6th grade! This curriculum, which can be used stand-alone or as part of the Shaping Healthy Choices Program, teaches students about key concepts of physical activity and how physical activity is important for overall health. The online training module, provided through the platform Open-Learning, includes a brief orientation to inquiry learning and an overview of each of the five modules, with videos demonstrating the physical activities involved. To access this training, please visit: https://www.openlearning.com/courses/healthy-choices-in-motion. For more information, please email Melanie Gerdes (magerdes@ucdavis.edu) or Anna Jones (anajones@ucdavis.edu).

New and Updated Nutrition Information Resources

The Department of Nutrition at UC Davis has a variety of nutrition information resources that you may be interested in. These include curricula, the quarterly newsletter Nutrition Perspectives as well as evidence-based nutrition info sheets on a variety of topics ranging from Gluten to the Dietary Guidelines to Phytochemicals. These resources can be found via the UC Davis Department of Nutrition website at: http://nutrition.ucdavis.edu/info/index.html. For more information, please email Anna Jones (anajones@ucdavis.edu).

The CATCH Promise Initiative

Great news! We are highlighting a great opportunity for UC CalFresh eligible schools to further partner with the CATCH Global Foundation (CGF). CGF has also identified 90 priority districts (see one-pager) for proactive outreach. The selection is based on district size (>20,000 students) and free -and-reduced lunch rate (>75%); two factors that are strong indicators of public health need and resource availability. Districts not on the list, however, may still qualify.

Based on the success stories shared by our counties, many school sites seem to have the readiness to make a more cohesive health culture for the students, parents, and staff. Imagine a school having programming that includes nutrition education, SLM, CATCH PE, after school programming, and gardening. The CATCH Coordination Kit provides a team of 5-6 school wellness leaders with simple guidance on creating a culture of health by weaving all these programming elements together.

Please take a look at the flyer (linked above) and let Michele Byrnes (mnbyrnes@ucdavis.edu) know if you think that you might have a school or school district that is ready to bring all the health components together using a simple framework to guide the way. The CATCH Promise Initiative is a great opportunity to help our schools reach their greatest potential in creating a healthy environment where students and their families thrive.

Walking across America

The following call for photos was originally included in the March Newsletter from America Walks. What does walking/rolling in your county look like? UC CalFresh has done some fantastic work helping communities have easier safe access to walking/rolling. America Walks would like to see images of walking/rolling in your community. Submit photos capturing special events, everyday walking, and anything that reflects what walking means to your town for possible inclusion in a future America Walks newsletter or other publication. You will receive credit and you will help make the case for making America a better place to walk. We would love you to share some of your successes nationally with America Walks. All you need is a good photo with a short description of the photo. Please email your photo(s) and description(s) to Michele Byrnes (mnbyrnes@ucdavis.edu) who will forward the information on behalf of UC CalFresh to Heidi Simon with America Walks.

Register Now! Three Steps to Wellness Policy Implementation Success Workshop, Various Dates

Implementation of Local School Wellness Policies (LSWP) is most effective when aligned with district priorities and broader community needs. The Three Steps to Wellness Policy Implementation Success Workshop—brought to you by the California Local School Wellness Policy Collaborative—provides participants with key strategies for updating and implementing LSWP, and provides guidance for complying with assessment and administrative review processes. Attendees will learn key responsibilities and approaches to engage stakeholders at the district, school and community levels to achieve successful LSWP implementation. Workshop attendees will also take away tools and resources needed to measure success, and identify opportunities that support a whole child approach.

Save the Date: School and Community Garden Workshops: Light Bulbs to Garlic Bulbs, Various Dates and Locations

This two-day workshop is designed to provide participants with the knowledge, skills, and resources to plan, develop, and sustain an edible school or community garden. Day 1 is an all-day garden skills workshop at a SNAP-Ed garden site. In a train-the-trainer model, you will learn the skills you need to successfully grow food and pass that knowledge back to your own staff or communities. Day 2 is an all-day garden programming workshop, where you will learn how to develop and implement a sustainable garden program and how to incorporate it into other healthy community change efforts.

Sixth Annual Every Kid Healthy™ Week: April 23-27, 2018

Every Kid Healthy™ Week is an annual observance created to celebrate school health and wellness achievements and recognized on the calendar of National Health Observances. Observed the last week of April each year, this special week shines a spotlight on the great efforts schools are making to improve the health and wellness of their students and the link between nutrition, physical activity, and learning—because healthy kids are better prepared to learn! Anyone can get involved and be part of the celebration to help support sound nutrition, regular physical activity and health-promoting programs in schools with a school health event. Schools are invited to host an event during Every Kid Healthy Week or anytime in April. Consider making your field day or other school-wide event health-focused. For additional information and resources, please visit: http://everykidhealthyweek.org/.

Webinar: Youth Behavior Guidance and Classroom Management: What We Learned—How We Used It—What Comes Next?, April 24, 2018, 2:30-4:00pm
