Welcome New UC CalFresh Staff!

Theresa Reynolds, Dietetic Intern, UCCE SLO and Santa Barbara Counties

UC CalFresh in San Luis Obispo & Santa Barbara Counties welcomes Theresa Reynolds to their team for the next four weeks. Theresa is a dietetic intern through Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and will be working with our Youth, Families and Communities programs. Theresa graduated from Saint Louis University with a degree in nutrition and dietetics with an emphasis in culinary arts. She has been living in Juneau, Alaska for the past four years where she had the opportunity to work with the University of Fairbanks’ Cooperative Extension. Her time there is the reason she elected a UC Cooperative Extension rotation. During her time with cooperative extension in Alaska, she got to see firsthand the positive impact of nutrition education programming. She is really looking forward to her time with UC CalFresh and the Master Food Preservers. She is inspired by the school nutrition programs, the volunteer network of the food preservation program, the support of school gardens and so much more!

Analysis of Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program Education (SNAP-Ed) Data for All States

The USDA recently published a report analyzing SNAP-Ed programming throughout the country. The study had five objectives for each State: (1) assess adherence of planned programming to what was delivered, (2) assess the variation in planned costs versus actual expenditures, (3) identify programs commonly used by States, (4) determine how States are using interventions from the SNAP-Ed toolkit and using the Evaluation Framework guidance, and (5) assess if SNAP-Ed reporting collects needed information to determine performance. The data analyzed came from three types of State SNAP-Ed documentation in Fiscal Years (FY) 2014-16: (1) State Plans and associated amendments and approval letters, (2) Annual Reports, and (3) Education and Administrative Reporting System (EARS) data.

Key findings included:

* SNAP-Ed was operated by a variety of implementing agencies (IAs) that delivered direct education, policy, systems, and environment (PSE) change strategies, and social marketing programming.
* Direct education continues to be the most commonly implemented type of SNAP-Ed programming.
* SNAP-Ed was delivered across a variety of settings where people eat, learn, live, play, shop, and work.
* There is limited ability to compare planned and actual project- or intervention-level SNAP-Ed activities.
* States expended approximately three-quarters of their final approved budgets.
* SNAP-Ed data collection could be strengthened by aligning reporting metrics used in State Plans, Annual Reports, and EARS.

The report concluded that, although there is room for improvement in coordinating SNAP-Ed data collection and reporting, States are implementing SNAP-Ed in a variety of settings, using innovative PSE changes, and leveraging non-Federal funds.

Role of Law and Policy to Increase Fruit and Vegetable Intake — Report and 9/27 Webinar

New Report on Increasing Fruit and Vegetable Intake Through Policy Strategies

A new report, The Role of Law and Policy in Achieving the Healthy People 2020 Nutrition and Weight Status Goals of Increased Fruit and Vegetable Intake in the United States, is the first in a series of evidence-based reports, webinars, and success stories (called “Bright Spots”) intended to help community and tribal leaders, government officials, public health professionals, health care providers, lawyers, and social service providers implement policy changes to improve community health and well-being.

Healthy food intake remains a problem in our country. Only 1 in 10 adults eat the recommended amount of fruits or vegetables each day. Beyond individual choice, many factors influence people’s eating patterns — including cost and the ability to access healthy foods.

Read the report summary to learn about the challenges to and opportunities for improving intake of fruits and vegetables across the Nation.

If you have more than two staff that want to attend, please email Michele Byrnes (mnbyrnes@ucdavis.edu) with their name(s) and they will be put on a waitlist.

Dates for Track A:

- October 24th: Trainees process through a CATCH ECE Training
- October 25th: Trainees model a CATCH ECE Training

Who should attend Track B: This track will certify you to implement the CATCH ECE curriculum directly with participants, but not train staff/teachers/extenders. If you have staff that have already been trained in CATCH ECE and feel they would benefit from a refresher course, they should sign up for the 1-day Track B training.

Dates for Track B:

- October 23rd: Trainees attend a CATCH ECE Training

Location: UC Davis Student Community Center Multi-Purpose Room (upstairs), 397 Hutchison Dr., Davis, CA 95616
